

Author: Farah Nasrawi
Illustrator: Asmaa Emara

3asafeer.com

The original work of this book was made possible through the generous support of the All Children Reading: A Grand Challenge for Development (ACR GCD) Partners (the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), World Vision, and the Australian Government). It was prepared by Asafeer Education Technologies FZ LLC and does not necessarily reflect the views of the ACR GCD Partners. Any adaptation or translation of this work should not be considered an official ACR GCD translation and ACR GCD shall not be liable for any content or error in this translation.

This is the book where Newton wrote the equation.

This is the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

This is the goose which provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

This is the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

This is the farm of the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

This is Mr. Smith who owns the farm of the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

This is Hana Scoff who married Mr. Smith who owns the farm of the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

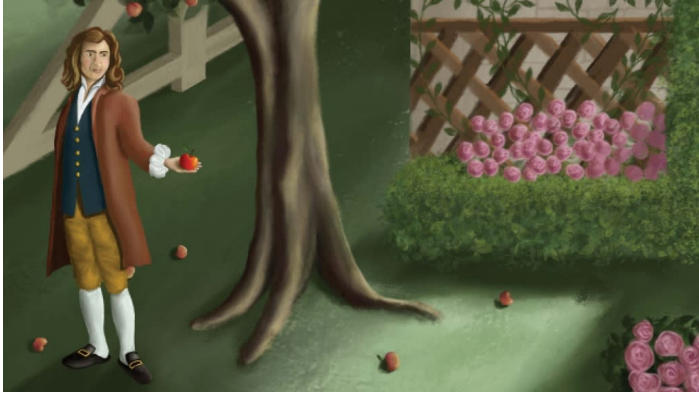

This is the garden owned by Hana Scoff who married Mr. Smith who owns the farm of the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

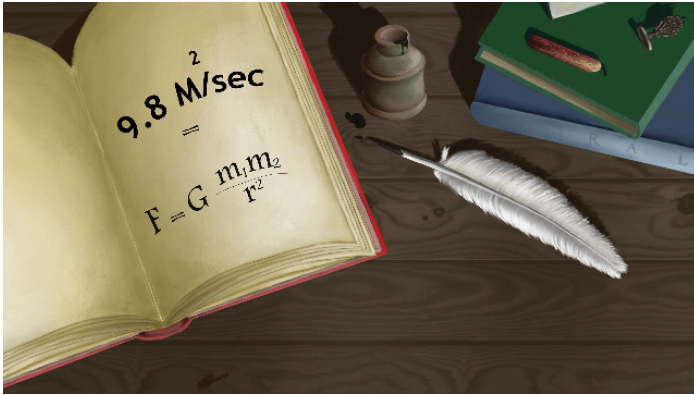

This is the tree that was in the garden owned by Hana Scoff who married Mr. Smith who owns the farm of the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

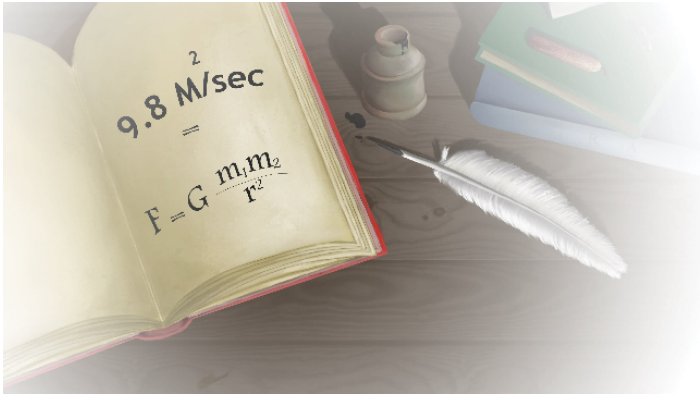

This the apple that fell from the tree that was in the garden owned by Hana Scoff who married Mr. Smith who owns the farm of the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

This is Newton who saw the apple that fell from the tree that was in the garden owned by Hana Scoff who married Mr. Smith who owns the farm of the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

The equation is the law of gravity that Newton discovered when he saw the apple that fell from the tree that was in the garden owned by Hana Scoff who married Mr. Smith who owns the farm of the farmer that fed the goose that provided the quill with which Newton wrote the equation in the book.

THE END